

Name: _____ Date: _____ Block: _____

Safety Poster Assignment

Safety comes first! But wow, there are an awful lot of safety rules to remember.

In this assignment, our class will be creating a collection of posters covering all the safety rules that are important in a lab. You will make the rules come to life! How? Use images, colour, memorable sayings, jokes...be creative!

Notes:

- Please design your poster on regular letter size (8.5 x 11 inches) paper.
- Don't have a colour printer? Send it to Ms. Au and she will happily print it for you.
- Not great at drawing? Use technology to your advantage!

My Assigned Safety Rule (see Safety Contract): _____

Poster Due Date: _____

	Extending	Proficient	Developing	Emerging
Presentation	<input type="checkbox"/> Poster is eye-catching and attractive. <input type="checkbox"/> Elements of the poster have been arranged in an effective manner.	<input type="checkbox"/> Poster is organized and has a good balance of images and text.	<input type="checkbox"/> Poster is somewhat disorganized. <input type="checkbox"/> Poster has few images; images could be improved or made more relevant.	<input type="checkbox"/> Little to no effort has been put towards the poster.
Clarity of Communication	<input type="checkbox"/> Safety rule is clearly and concisely communicated in the student's own words. <input type="checkbox"/> A joke, quote, or pun makes the safety rule memorable.	<input type="checkbox"/> Safety rule is clearly communicated in the poster. <input type="checkbox"/> Proper spelling and grammar.	<input type="checkbox"/> The poster does not clearly show or explain the safety rule. <input type="checkbox"/> Some spelling and/or grammar mistakes.	<input type="checkbox"/> The safety rule is not represented on the poster. <input type="checkbox"/> Text is difficult to understand and interpret.

Name: _____ Date: _____ Block: _____

Safety Poster Assignment

Safety comes first! But wow, there are an awful lot of safety rules to remember.

In this assignment, our class will be creating a collection of posters covering all the safety rules that are important in a lab. You will make the rules come to life! How? Use images, colour, memorable sayings, jokes...be creative!

Notes:

- Please design your poster on regular letter size (8.5 x 11 inches) paper.
- Don't have a colour printer? Send it to Ms. Au and she will happily print it for you.
- Not great at drawing? Use technology to your advantage!

My Assigned Safety Rule (see Safety Contract): _____

Poster Due Date: _____

	Extending	Proficient	Developing	Emerging
Presentation	<input type="checkbox"/> Poster is eye-catching and attractive. <input type="checkbox"/> Elements of the poster have been arranged in an effective manner.	<input type="checkbox"/> Poster is organized and has a good balance of images and text.	<input type="checkbox"/> Poster is somewhat disorganized. <input type="checkbox"/> Poster has few images; images could be improved or made more relevant.	<input type="checkbox"/> Little to no effort has been put towards the poster.
Clarity of Communication	<input type="checkbox"/> Safety rule is clearly and concisely communicated in the student's own words. <input type="checkbox"/> A joke, quote, or pun makes the safety rule memorable.	<input type="checkbox"/> Safety rule is clearly communicated in the poster. <input type="checkbox"/> Proper spelling and grammar.	<input type="checkbox"/> The poster does not clearly show or explain the safety rule. <input type="checkbox"/> Some spelling and/or grammar mistakes.	<input type="checkbox"/> The safety rule is not represented on the poster. <input type="checkbox"/> Text is difficult to understand and interpret.